Up, Up, and Away... beyond The 5th Dimension

Dear Friend,

In this issue we honor Florence LaRue who is the epitome of ageless beauty. Her success skyrocketed "Up, Up and Away" with the Fifth Dimension years ago. Deeply religious and dedicated to serving others, she has managed to use her stardom to promote good causes. One dear to me is her recent work with the American Stroke Association, a division of the American Heart Association. Florence got more than involved. She ran in the 26 mile LA Marathon to help raise funds and awareness of this important cause. The American Heart Association's new movement is called Go Red and features wonderful information for women on protecting heart health. (See www.go.heart.org)

Spreading the word about cardiovascular health has become a mission for me too. I have spent many months dedicating my time to helping my father recover from open heart surgery and aortic valve transplation. Unlike former First Lady Barbara Bush, and comedian Robin Williams, my father's valve replacement was not suggested in advance. He was so healthy at 91, that Doctors said, "keep doing whatever you are doing." We did not know Dad's aortic valve had become so calcified, blood was being forced through an opening that was the size of a pinhole. When he had a heart attack, we almost lost him.

Thank God for Dr. Alan Heldman, M.D., Clinical Chief of the Cardiovascular Division at University of Miami Miller School of Medicine and brilliant Cardiac Surgeon, Dr. Donald Williams, M.D. performed the lifesaving operation. They saved Dad when others said there was no hope.

With so much happening these days, pampering ourselves takes last place. But luckily, Clientele formulas are fast and easy to use. In just a few minutes you can cleanse away the impurities of the day, and immerse your skin in a rich complex of nutrients and anti-aging peptides. You feel revitalized with visible results. No matter how stressed you are, the one minute Clientele ritual can put a smile on your face, when you look in the mirror and see your skin glowing with health.

I hope this issue will bring you some joy reading about our new discoveries and hope you will take care of your skin and your heart.

Palm Springs AN OASIS OF HEALTH & WELL-BEING By Pamela Price

Steve Wilson, Public Relations Director for the Palm Springs International Film Festival that gathers celebrities including Florence LaRue, takes a break to try the new Moroccan inspired spa at the Colony Palms Resort in Palm Springs with Pamela Price, co-author of three editions of 100 Best Spas of the World published by www.globepequot.com. Pamela Price features Clientele skincare as one of her favorite lines to produce dramatic anti-aging benefits, also reported in the Best of Forbes Traveler edition www.forbestraveler.com.

Where can you go to rejuvenate and refresh your mind, body and spirit? One favorite destination is Palm Springs, an oasis of health that has been a magnet for spa-goers since the Agua Caliente Native Americans bathed in the healing mineral waters here in times past. This set the stage for one of America's favorite spa destinations, where a dozen plus hotels feature world class spas and treatments, from the Renaissance Esmeralda Resort and Spa and Hyatt Grand Champions Resort and Spa in Indian Wells to the newly opened and very hip Riviera Resort & Spa in Palm Springs. You can experience a global banquet of spa treatments here from a traditional massage to the more exotic relaxation at hip spas such as PSYC (Palm Springs Yacht Club) at the Parker Palm Springs. Nearby are the spas of Desert Hot Springs, where authentic mineral water flows into an elegant spa. Nearby Two Bunch Palms, an ultra private historic spa, was a playground for Al Capone back in the 1930s, and continues to feature mud bath body wraps and for couples, a full hour massage followed by a lavender bath by candlelight.

Today, this desert destination where spas reign supreme shares the spotlight with celebrities who come to bask in the sun and golf in the famed charity tournaments like the annual Frank Sinatra Tournament and the Bob Hope Classic. Just being in the beautiful desert, with its lofty mountains, open skies and palm trees wherever you look, has therapeutic value. Add a dazzling calendar of star studded charity and cinema events such as the 20th Annual Palm Springs International Film Festival and it becomes obvious that Palm Springs has it all.

Florence LaRue

Up, Up, and Away... beyond The 5th Dimension

*I*ntelligent, beautiful and talented are the words that are frequently used when describing the glamorous Florence LaRue, 6-Time Grammy winning star, and the original female member and leader of The 5th Dimension. Whether on stage performing, lecturing, or serving as a celebrity judge for the Miss Universe Pageants, Florence juggles her roles as actress, entertainer, and humanitarian with the same electric perfection that she devotes to singing. Her beautiful voice has made legend of ballads such as Up, Up and Away and Aquarius which bear The 5th Dimension trademark. "I give my best to whatever I am involved with," explains the age-defying beauty who is also a mother and a teacher with a Bachelor's degree from California State College.

The American Society of Jewelry Executives named Florence one of the ten most beautiful women in the world. When asked how she felt about being placed on a list beside such legendary beauties as Sophia Loren and Lena Horne, LaRue laughed. "Naturally I'm honored, but I truly believe that beauty comes from within. What I see when I look in the mirror is someone who tries to look her best and stay healthy mentally, physically, and spiritually."

"Your mind really influences how you age to some part. I set out to participate in The Surf City Marathon for the American Heart Association. And at my age I completed my first half marathon, 13.2 miles, and am on my way to completing the full 26 miles in the near future! I believe in the cause. A stroke contributed to the death of my dear Mother and I decided it is better not to focus on your loss, but on helping others," Florence said.

The seed to her ambitions was nurtured by her Mother. "When I was young, I thought my Mother was strict when she was determined to instill great ambition in me. We were poor. Mother worked very hard to give me what I needed, like violin and ballet lessons which she really could not afford. She said, 'If you work hard and believe in God you can do anything.' As a poor young black child in an all-white school, my friends thought I was crazy when I said I wanted to go to Hollywood and be a Star!"

With granddaughter, June 2000

She added, "Just look at President Obama. As a child he was encouraged as I was and look what he achieved. I am so proud to see the first African American President of the United States in my lifetime."

Florence became a singing star of the famed 5th Dimension, sang around the world and appeared in many television shows. Among her favorites she recalls the movie Happy with Dom DeLuise, and her national tour of Broadway's Tony Award winning musical, Ain't Misbehavin. "Working in theatre is exciting!", says Florence. While she continues performing with The 5th Dimension, her career is going 'Up, Up and Away' as she soars in an exciting new direction as a solo artist. Florence continues writing song lyrics, and is working on a new CD.

Florence's interests include exercise, cooking, music of various styles (especially country, gospel, classical and jazz), reading, and charity work for numerous organizations. Never one to avoid challenges, Florence embraced the cause of abused children as a charitable effort for The 5th Dimension and continues to help charities like Olive Crest Home for Children in Southern California and The Ann Douglas Center in downtown Los Angeles. "Anything involving children has always been of special concern to me" she said. Her background as an educator is partially responsible for the entertainer's concern for young people. One of her favorite pleasures is spending time with her three grandchildren. Looking at Florence with her youthful looks, "grandmother" is the last thing you think about. "Do what is good for your body, mind and spirit. If you want to lose weight, don't diet. Eat healthy, exercise and enjoy who you are along the way", says Florence.

When she recently traveled with a medical/evangelism team to The Gambia, West Africa, Florence gained such compassion for the people that she plans to continue mission work in Africa. She also has a great interest in Israel, where she has visited several times. Her trips to Jerusalem so moved her that she believes this is a journey everyone, no matter what his or her religion is, should take. While she is interested in helping peoples of other countries, she also believes we must help our family and neighbors here in the US. To implement this, she's asking everyone who attends a 5th Dimension concert to bring non-perishable food items which will be donated to the needy in that community.

Florence has received many awards for her talent, community service and beauty. She was named Woman of the Year by The City of Hope, and received their prestigious Spirit of Life Award, which resulted in a research fellowship being established in her name for extensive study and treatment of gynecological cancer. She also founded the educational committee of The Mid-City Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles. Florence's volunteer work includes working with the Special Olympics. Many of her community service projects are performed without publicity or fanfare.

Florence LaRue is actively involved with church work and lends her beautiful voice to a gospel chorus. Florence says, "I am grateful to God for the opportunity to speak and minister in the secular world with my music, writing and acting." God has certainly blessed her with success, beauty and a joyful spirit to help others. She looks forward to what He has planned for her future and cheers us on with her slogan... "Have a Blessed Day... a Blessed Year... and a Blessed Life!"

Beauty Diet

What actually causes aging?

A key cause of aging is the constant cell damage caused by free radicals. When free radicals are produced in the body they can attack your healthy cells and speed up the process of aging, causing a breakdown of collagen (collagen is what keeps your skin firm and resilient). A visual example of free radicals at work is what happens when you cut open an apple and leave it laying out for a short time.

Free radicals are produced by normal body metabolism and in large quantities when the body is exposed to harmful ultraviolet rays, X-rays, as well as cigarette smoke and environmental pollution. Our bodies try to protect us from free radical damage by producing enzymes that neutralize them like S.O.D. However, they are not capable of handling this function without nutrients provided by our diets, like Zinc, Copper, Manganese and yes, Iron.

Foods for Beautiful Skin

Nutrients that promote great-looking skin can be found in a variety of foods. Here's what you need and where to get it.

ANTIOXIDANTS

Help neutralize free radical damage and slow the effects of aging. Fruits and vegetables are a great source of antioxidants, especially: berries, tomatoes, oranges, grapes, carrots and mushrooms.

VITAMIN A, BETA CAROTENE

Helps your skin produce more fresh new cells and get rid of the old ones, keeping your face looking bright and young. Great sources of Vitamin A are: milk, eggs, liver, fortified cereals, dark colored orange or green vegetables (carrots, sweet potatoes, pumpkin & kale), and orange fruits (cantaloupe, apricots, peaches, papayas & mangos).

VITAMIN C

Helps aid the body's production of collagen for smooth, firm skin. You'll find high levels of Vitamin C in: red berries, kiwi, red and green bell peppers, tomatoes, broccoli, spinach, and juices made from guava, grapefruit and orange.

VITAMIN E

Helps your skin hold in moisture, relieving dryness and making it soft and younger-looking. Vitamin E is found in: vegetable oils, nuts (especially almonds), and green leafy vegetables as well as avocados, wheat germ and whole grains.

OMEGA-3 FATTY ACIDS & ZINC

Help provide moisture to the skin, keeping it smooth, supple, clear and glowing. You can find these nutrients in: fatty fish such as salmon, cod, and tuna, as well as walnuts and fortified eggs.

These foods are excellent ways to get the nutrients you need for healthy, beautiful skin. They help prevent premature aging and keep your skin looking young, so add a few to your diet every day and make your skin glow – for beauty from the inside out!

The formula provides powerful antioxidants like Alpha Lipoic Acid, which helps neutralize free radicals in the skin and protects cells from damage that can lead to wrinkling.

Other key ingredients: L-Carnitine, supports key functions that require high levels of energy and fat metabolism; B Vitamins, including Riboflavin which helps support energy production and a strong immune system; Lutein, long known for its efficacy in promoting eye health, also provides considerable skin health benefits. Lutein and Lycopene are vital carotenoids that may help to bolster the skin's natural antioxidant defenses against the long-term damaging effects of sun and light exposure, helping reduce the appearance of premature aging.
